

Cougar Daily's "The Potty Mouth"

1/23/23 – 1/28/23

The Bathroom Sensation That's Sweeping the Nation

Hey there Cougars and happy Tax Identity Theft Awareness Week! (You're aware of it now, thank me later). It's another beautiful week here at Coronado, and The Potty Mouth is here to make it even better! A lot of you are probably re-learning that third quarter is the crunchiest time of the school year both in terms of workload and motivation. If this didn't describe you, congratulations, but if it did, I totally get it and we're going to get through it together. And how are we going to do that, you may ask? Well, I'm so happy you asked! The very best way to unwind is by scanning the QR code below and reading some of your peers' amazing articles on The Cougar Daily.

Parking Lot Pro Tips

When you think about Coronado, what comes to mind? Well for starters: cougars, the colors red and gold, The Potty Mouth, and an absolute train wreck of a parking lot. There's no sugarcoating it, so here are some tips on how to navigate and survive when you're out on the asphalt.

- Look both ways before crossing – it was true when you were five and it's true now.
- Traffic laws still apply to those of you who drive, those arrows on the ground aren't just there to look pretty.
- Watch out for ice – last week I slipped and hit my head on someone's mirror, and I wouldn't wish that on any of you.
- Ever played Frogger? Let's not simulate it here at school, stay aware of your surroundings.
- DON'T. DO. DONUTS. I know its snowy and some of you have cars that can handle it but that doesn't make it okay. This one is common sense but some of you continue to surprise me.
- Wave at that person who let you in or across. It takes barely any effort and it's just a good habit to get into.
- Don't look at your phone. I totally understand and I'm guilty of it too, but I promise whatever's happening there can wait until you aren't at risk of being hit by a Ford Escape.

Fun Things Happening in Your Hallways

- Girls Swimming Senior Night is this week! Go support your fellow Cougars against palmer this Thursday at 4:00pm!
- Boys Basketball knocked down Falcon in a close game last Saturday, nice job guys!
- Breaking News: Michael B. Jordan and Paul Rudd agree that there was a mistake and that I'm actually the world's most attractive man.
- Update: They forgot about Ryan Reynolds, sorry to disappoint you all.
- Congratulations to Lilianna Martinez who took third place in the Girls SCSML Tournament on Saturday!
- The comet dubbed Comet 2022 E3 (ZTF) is passing by Earth this month and is the closest to Earth in the next week or two. If you want to see the comet, go outside between 1:00am and 3:00am and turn your eyes to the northwest. It should appear as a faint green glow using binoculars. This is a 1 in 50,000 years type thing, take advantage!
