

The Bathroom Sensation That's Sweeping the Nation

Well cougars, it's that magical time of the year again. No, not the holiday season, I'm talking about finals week! Hopefully you realize that this is satire and I'm not actually super pumped for finals, but for the sake of this column, I have to pretend. This can be a super stressful time of the year, so we here at The Cougar Daily are going to do everything we can to make your life easier. Take a moment and breathe. Seriously. You'd be shocked how much it helps. Inhale for four seconds, hold it for four seconds, and then release it for four seconds. Do that like five times before you head back to class. You got this. I believe in you. Study hard, take breaks, manage your mental health, and remember that $y=mx+b$ and that the mitochondria is the powerhouse of the cell.
