

The Bathroom Sensation That's Sweeping the Nation

Hey there Coronado and welcome back to another issue of your favorite bathroom chronicle! I hope that you're having an amazing day and that things are going well, but on the off chance that things aren't going too great, I'm back to hopefully brighten your day a bit. In that spirit (and because we've stopped telling them on announcements for some reason), I think it's only appropriate that we begin this column with a dad joke. For what it's worth, I apologize in advance, but sometimes the best jokes aren't the ones that make you laugh - they're the ones that make you cringe... "You've Heard of Murphey's Law, right? It says that anything that can go wrong will go wrong. But have you heard of Cole's Law? I'm told it's thinly sliced cabbage."

Snow, Snow, Go Away (Please)

This is the time of year where despite all the winter-y holidays being over, Colorado continues to dump buckets of snow on us just because. Now, many of you may absolutely love winter, I would like to say that I'm one of these people too, but I also miss the sun. In lieu of this, here are some fun ways to beat the cold this January.

- Start doing preseason track. Another shameless plug, I know, but there's no better way to stay warm than by running.
- Cozy up next to a warm fire.
DISCLAIMER: fires should be in fireplaces ONLY. Should I have to say it? No. Would some of you worry me if I didn't? Absolutely.
- Make soup. Or tea. Tea is just boring soup so go for it.
- Imagine the sky being blue instead of gray. It's beautiful, isn't it?
- Crank the thermostat to 90 degrees. (Actually, don't do this-I know my dad would kill me if I did).
- Accept that living in one of the most beautiful states comes with some grumpy weather for a while. (I'm working on this too, just keep smiling!)

D20 Schedule Change

By Alexandra Micci
D20 schools and administration held a board meeting confirming that D20 will undergo a schedule change. High schools in D20 will be starting at 8:10 and ending at 3:15. This will likely affect work schedules, buses, and travel to school. Additionally, this change can affect schools, families, and communities. It is yet to be seen if this will inspire D11 to follow suit.
