

Cougar Daily's "The Potty Mouth"

2/13/23 – 2/18/23

The Bathroom Sensation That's Sweeping the Nation

Hey there cougars! The stereotypical thing for me to do here would be to wish you all a "happy single person's awareness week," but we're going to shatter some norms here, and all I'm going to say is hello and welcome to what is either going to be the best week of your life or the worst week of your life, or possibly, just another normal week of your life. Here's the deal though, regardless of your relationship status, Valentine's Day can be for everyone. "Well why do you say that?" you may ask. Well, dear reader, the answer is quite simple: discounted Valentine's candy will be available on February 15th. You're welcome.

You Can't Spell "Valentine's" without "I"

If you're in the same boat as me, you might find yourself alone this Valentine's Day. That's okay though! While the rest of the world goes out on fancy dates, here's a short list of dates you can have at a table for one.

- Bake cookies. For one. That's twice as many cookies that you can eat than if you were baking for two!
- Watch a romantic movie. Alone. Might I suggest Titanic, The Princess Bride, The Proposal, or The Notebook.
- Compose a love song. For yourself. Self-love is important and there's nothing quite like serenading yourself in the mirror.
- Wear cute matching outfits. On your own. Wear pants that match your shirt! Or a shirt that matches your pants!
- Go on a shopping spree. Solo. It's not retail therapy if it's a holiday!
- Go ice skating. Unaccompanied. If you're bad at skating, there won't be anyone to see you fall! If you're good at skating, everyone will be so impressed they won't even realize that you're alone.
- Third wheel one of your friend's dates. They're going to be super thrilled that you're there, I promise.
- Obviously, this all is a joke, but happy Valentine's Day everyone! <3

Fun Things Happening in Your Hallways

- People falling up/down the stairs. I don't know why, but it seems like it's happening more and more lately. I may or may not be speaking from experience.
- The Chiefs won the Super Bowl! Sorry Broncos fans.
- Breaking News: People who wash their hands are found to be much more attractive than those who don't.
- Congratulations to the girls swim team for making it to state in two Events! Natalie Austin qualified for finals in the 100 fly! Nice job everyone and congrats on a great season!
- Hot Take of the Day: Showering at night is infinitely superior to showering in the morning.
- Interplanetary News: Jupiter has like twelve more moons now. Where were they for the last 400 years? Who knows!
- The Cougar Daily!

Upcoming Events

Monday 2/13	Tuesday 2/14	Wednesday 2/15	Thursday 2/16	Friday 2/17	Saturday 2/18
	- Girls Basketball: C-Team, JV, Varsity vs Palmer @ Home (4:00pm, 5:30pm, 7:00pm) - Boys Basketball: C-Team, JV, Varsity @ Palmer (4:00pm, 5:30pm, 7:00pm) Jazz Band Concert in The Auditorium (7:00pm)		- Wrestling: Girls Varsity/Boys Varsity State Tournament @ The Pepsi Center (9:00am) Wind Ensemble Concert in The Auditorium (7:00pm)	- Wrestling: Girls Varsity/Boys Varsity State Tournament @ The Pepsi Center (9:00am) - Girls Basketball: JV vs Falcon @ Home (4:00pm)	- Wrestling: Girls Varsity/Boys Varsity State Tournament @ The Pepsi Center (9:00am)

Want to read more? Find more on our website, cougardaily.org or on Instagram @thecougardaily/!