

The Bathroom Sensation That's Sweeping the Nation

It's the week of love, Cougars...be prepared for couples making out in the hallways and many similar things. Though Valentine's Day can be fun if you get chocolates or gifts, it's also a reminder of how lonely you are. Never fear; the Potty Mouth is here!

How To Stop People From Kissing In The Hallways

Sure, Valentine's Day is a nice concept, but many people forget that the school hallways are NOT your home and tend to kiss right in the middle of the walkway. Here's some ways to remedy that, Cougars!

- Walk through them. Become an unstoppable force. Make sure your unstoppable force does not cause actual damage, or you'll get in a lot of trouble.
- Squeeze past them. The cowards move, self-explanatory.
- Stand there and make them feel uncomfortable. Don't break eye contact for a second, but make sure you do this with people that WON'T deck you in the face.
- Shout "PDA" across the hallway! Be loud and clear. This is in the same vein as the prior item but you aren't at as much risk of getting punched this way.
- Tap them on the shoulder and ask them nicely. This is also the cowards move, but it's also nice to the other people also trying to get around them.
- Take the long way so you can avoid the kissers. Even if you're late, its better than running into the carefree couples.

Tell Me You're Selfish Without Telling Me

Sometimes, people do stuff at school that makes it clear how little they think about others. Here's a couple of those things that YOU might do without thinking!

First up is taking up more space in the hallways than you need to – walking in the middle of the halls and stopping randomly. Can you not do that? Are you incapable of going somewhere outside the flow of traffic to stand?

Next up is not following the arrows in the parking lot (especially when it's full, or the streets are busy) and turning left at the exit by the teacher's parking lot. Are you incapable of driving to the other exit, or are you being willfully dense?

Taking up multiple entire sinks in the bathroom with your things when you could put it on one sink, or purposely crowding around the sinks when there are other people that need them. I've never vaped, or whatever you people do that makes doing this seem like a good idea, but seriously!

A friendly reminder to everybody: you aren't the only people in this school. I know it's crazy to fathom that there are other, real people around you, but it's true. Try to squeeze a little kindness out for the people around you and be respectful.

Upcoming Events

Monday 2/12	Tuesday 2/13	Wednesday 2/14	Thursday 2/15	Friday 2/16	Saturday 2/17
Lunch LinkUP @ Room 212 (both lunches) SAC Meeting @ HELP Center (5:30pm)	Boys Basketball v Palmer @ Home (3:30pm) Girls Basketball v Palmer @ Palmer (4pm) Unified Basketball Varsity v Palmer @ Home (6:30pm)	Valentine's Day!	Coffee with the Principal @ Media Center (7:45am) Combined Jazz and Concert Band @ Auditorium (7pm) Girls & Boys Varsity Wrestling State @ Ball Arena (1pm)	Girls & Boys Varsity Wrestling State @ Ball Arena (9am)	Girls & Boys Varsity Wrestling @ Ball Arena (9am)