

Cougar Daily's "The Potty Mouth" 9/2-9/6

The Bathroom Sensation That's Sweeping the Nation

Happy Labor Day week, Cougars! I know you're happy to have a day off from school already! I also heard that the virus has been going around, so take precautions, Cougars! Wash your hands thoroughly, wear a mask if you need to, and make sure to get plenty of sleep!

School Spirit

School spirit is a somewhat tricky subject in high school – some kids absolutely do not care for it, and some kids are all for it. Some might want to show it, but don't know exactly how to show it, so here's a few ways to do it, in preparation for homecoming week!

- Go to your peers' sports games! Don't care about a sport, but your friend is competing in it? Go and cheer them! This only works, however, if you have a stable ride to and from the game, or from school if it's a home game, as well as how well you handle loud cheering all around you.
- Wear our school colors on Fridays! Mad red and gold can be anything, red shoes, a red belt, a golden pin, or whatever your fashionable heart desires!
- If you have the money for it, you can go to your local Walgreens and buy a shirt, hat, hoodie, whatever else they have on sale!

Re: Journalism Club & The Potty Mouth

What's up, Cougars? If you're interested in writing articles, interviewing your fellow students about topics you're interested in, and even taking photos, think about joining the Journalism Club, hosted by Mr. Philipsen, of AP Language and Composition and KUGR-TV fame, in room 415 on Tuesdays! Even if you're not sure, but you're free during lunch, come check it out!

For all the club leaders and members of other clubs out there, make sure to keep an eye on the coming issues for the Potty Mouth, as we will put out more information about seeking club representatives, people willing to talk to us in the Journalism club about important dates, meetings, and events your club has and will have! We hope to hear from you when we put out further information, Cougars!
