

Cougar Daily's "The Potty Mouth"

8/21-8/27

The Bathroom Sensation That's Sweeping the Nation

Welcome back, Cougars! This is the first full week of classes for all District 11 high schools, and for Coronado, that means a brand-new student government. You might have noticed a different voice over the loudspeaker; that's new Secretary of Communications Luciano Taraborelli. Also keep an eye on KUGR-TV for a word from your new President, Ella Lachance.

Advice for new AP Students

- Pay attention in class!

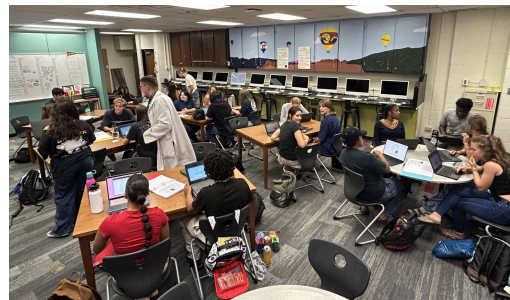

AP materials are difficult and can be boring; however, it is far more important to focus on what your teacher is saying and doing in AP classes than in other classes. It is easier than you think to mentally check out for a class period or two, but before you know it, you'll be struggling to understand the lectures.

- Get ahead of the homework.

AP-style homeworks can be extremely difficult, especially the AP-provided multiple choice (MCQ) and free-response (FRQ) practice questions. If you prioritize AP homework, you'll be rewarded with less strenuous assignments from other classes once you're done.

- Start fast.

AP classes are designed to differentiate good students from great. To stay in the latter category, one must act the part of a great student. Great students start the year by building the habits and support systems they need to succeed all year. If you've never felt the need to study for tests, try a flashcard or two. If you've always tossed assignments and notes loosely into your backpack, try a binder or a planner. Build the right habits, and the rest takes care of itself.

The Revival of Coronado Journalism

In a stunning turnaround, Coronado Journalism and The Cougar Daily roar back to life in the 2025-2026 school year with its recent transformation from niche club to overpopulated class.

One of the primary drivers of this influx in Journalists was the class's newfound status as an English class. Readers can expect a drastic increase in output and quantity of stories (and The Potty Mouth!) thanks to a flush new staff of 27. The class is being taught by the tenured Tyler Philipsen, who has significant experience in Coronado's English Department.
